Welcome to Stockholm, the capital of life and movement!

Stockholm is built on 14 islands all part of an archipelago. Sweden's Capital is charming, vibrant and surrounded by beauty and water - hence it's nickname, Venice of the North!

Stockholm is the home of the world famous writer Stieg Larsson. Millions of people have already read the Millennium-series by Stieg Larsson and the books have been bestsellers around the world. The leading characters in the books live and work in Södermalm, the southern part of the inner city, where the films also have been recorded. Since these locations have attracted many fans a city walk was developed in 2008. The tour includes highlights from the book such as Götgatan where the main character Mikael Blomkvist's office is located, the home's of the main characters and the legendary drinking hall 'Kvarnen', frequently visited by Lisbeth Salander, another main character from the books.

We invite you to an exiting and different city break in Stockholm including interesting views of the city not seen by many tourists. In this city break we offer you packed excitement, but we also allow you time to explore this delightful capital on your own.
